

UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS

District of Columbia Circuit

COURT POLICY ON AUDIO RECORDINGS & TRANSCRIPTS OF ORAL ARGUMENTS

1. Effective September 9, 2013, audio recordings of oral arguments became available online free of charge. The audio recordings are available on the court's website (www.cadc.uscourts.gov) by 3:00 P.M. on the same day of the oral argument.
2. Audio recordings beginning with the 2007 Term are archived and available on the court's website.
3. No person will be given permission to record an oral argument.
4. Any person may request that a transcript of the oral argument be made at his/her expense. This transcript will be made as part of an arrangement between the requestor and the company to which the Court refers the requestor. The cost will include the expense of preparing one copy of the transcript for the requestor and four copies for the Court.
5. Any person may request a copy of the oral argument recording after the case has been completely closed. This means that all appeals, remands, or other additional proceedings must be concluded before the recording will be reproduced. Reproductions will be priced pursuant to the Miscellaneous Fee Schedule approved by the Judicial Conference of the United States. [Currently, reproductions cost $30.]
6. The Court will consider requests for a waiver of the above policy upon a showing of good cause.
